

To: Peterson, Cynthia[Peterson.Cynthia@epa.gov]
From: Schmittdiel, Paula
Sent: Thur 3/26/2015 5:13:49 PM
Subject: RE: Midvale Slag video

Lets look for some examples in smaller mining communities with tourism that Silverton may be able to relate to. Leadville has some pluses and minuses but is similar in many ways and perhaps some of the Montana sites might be appropriate. A video may be useful but just some good fact sheets would also be helpful.

Paula Schmittdiel

Remedial Project Manager

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

1595 Wynkoop St.

Denver, CO 80202

Office: 303-312-6861

Fax: 303-312-7151

Cell: 720-951-0795

From: Peterson, Cynthia
Sent: Thursday, March 26, 2015 10:53 AM
To: Wharton, Steve
Cc: Schmittdiel, Paula; Fagen, Elizabeth
Subject: Midvale Slag video

Hi, Steve.

When we were talking to Mark Garcia, you had asked about a video for Murray Smelter. I checked with Fran, and she didn't know of one for that site but that you might be thinking of Midvale. Here is a link to that video - <http://www.epa.gov/superfund/programs/recycle/info/midvale.html>. I've also attached a couple of documents that discuss the cleanup and redevelopment of that site. They really tell a good story.

Cynthia Peterson

Community Involvement Coordinator

Public Affairs and Community Involvement U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region VIII

1595 Wynkoop St. (8OC-PAI)

Denver, CO 80202-1129

303-312-6879 -- direct dial